Designed for officers with basic SWAT training, this course employs practical application of advanced SWAT concepts .

Participants will also learn modern techniques of pistol, sub-machine gun and combat shooting; tactical communications concepts; and organization and discipline of special police units. The course emphasizes restraint, discipline and only those techniques that succeed in actual practice and conform to law and police policy.

At the conclusion of this program, participants will be able to:

- collectively demonstrate the ability to respond to and resolve barricaded suspect situations
- demonstrate appropriate hostage rescue tactics and techniques
- execute dynamic entry/vehicle assault/open-air options
- use appropriate entry techniques
- demonstrate appropriate planning and control methods for high-risk operations
- demonstrate movement and stealth techniques to accomplish perimeter containment
- utilize the three primary tactical options of barricaded hostage situations
